Prelude to Dasara-2019

10-day Yuva Sambhrama from 5.30 pm tomorrow

Mysuru, Sept. 16 (MTY, PM& BCT)- Dasara mood has set in and as a prelude to this, Yuva Sambhrama, the most popular event for the youths, will begin from Sept. 17 at the sprawling Open Air Theatre in Manasagangothri, from 5.30 pm to 10.30 pm.

Hectic preparations are on to organise the Yuva Sambhrama in a grand way and a giant stage has already been set up. Workers, designers, sound and light engineers and acoustic experts are racing against time to meet tomorrow evening's deadline.

The Open Air Theatre has a seating capacity of over 15,000 and this apart, 2,000 chairs will be placed in front of the stage for VVIPs and guests.

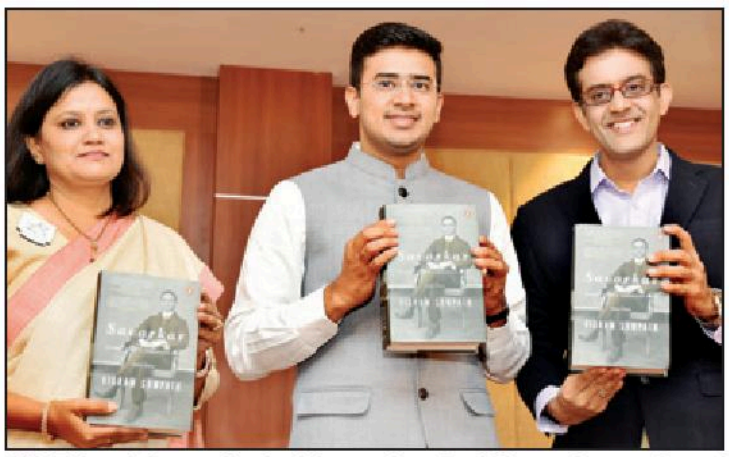
There will be three gates to enter the venue and metal detectors are being installed to check each visitor. Last night, a trial of sound and light was held and the movements of focus-lights, coloured lights and long-distance revolving lights were checked.

(See YUVA SAMBHRAMA on page 8)

In addition to the 15,000 seating capacity of Open Air Theatre inside the sprawling Manasagangothri Campus 2,000 more chairs will be placed for a grand Yuva Sambhrama that will kickstart tomorrow evening.

'Savarkar: Echoes from a Forgotten Past' book release

Only lion-hearted patriots see Veer Savarkar as a tall leader: MP Tejasvi Surya



MP Tejasvi Surya flanked by author Dr. Vikram Sampath and Mysuru Book Clubs-2015 Founder Shubha Sanjay Urs launching the book Savarkar: Echoes from a Forgotten Past at Hotel Southern Star in city last evening.

Mysuru, Sept.16 (SBD&NNN)- Only lion-hearted patriots can see Veer Savarkar as a tall leader, said Bengaluru South MP Tejasvi Surya.

He was speaking after releasing the book 'Savarkar: Echoes from a Forgotten Past' by Vikram Sampath, at Hotel Southern Star last evening. Addressing a packed hall, he said, Savarkar was a great patriot and social reformer. "People who go to Pakistan to apologise on behalf of India and those who are afraid of losing elections and go to Kerala's Wayanad to contest cannot consider Savarkar as a leader.

Along with Hindu consolidation, Savarkar had spoken about the need for establishing diplomatic relationship with Israel. But our past leaders, fearing that this friendship with Israel would lose votes in Bengaluru's Shivajinagar and Mysuru's N.R. Mohalla, showed their petty mindedness in not recognising the benefits of friendship with Israel for India, he caustically remarked.

When patriot Savarkar was languishing in Andaman and Nicobar Island's Cellular Jail, Pandit Nehru was busy Discovering India and writing letters to his daughter sitting in the confines of great luxury and comfort. Obviously the reference was to the book 'Discovery of India' written by Nehru. Tejasvi Surya regretted that Savarkar was not given the rightful place in India's history both as a freedom fighter and a social reformer.

Lifestyle - longevity link

Life-span of human beings, not exactly determined, is more at present times than before, thanks to both advances in medical field and comprehension of its link with diet as well as lifestyle. Desiring to live long, say beyond 80s and 90s, without any health issues and following a disciplined lifestyle as well as moderation in food consumption are different kettles of fish. The age of 40 years seems to mark changes in respect of one's health and start showing even as the role of diet and exercise is bestowed acceptance for staying free from aches and pains that bug the elderly. Fear of getting knocked down by one illness or the other and also likely to die soon haunts as one reaches the age of perilous 60s and 70s. Residents of cities, unlike their rustic counterparts, have brought upon themselves a lifestyle of stress, apart from creating conditions in their living space that threaten their health in no small way. Commuting in motorised vehicles, thus giving up walking, the simplest exercise and consuming food without a care for its ill-effects on wellness are their undoing.

Anthropologists have opined that homo-sapiens, now extinct, existed as far back as 2.1 million years from now while upright human being on planet Earth has a history of about 2,00,000 years. Although motorised transport has a history of about 120 years, it has severely interfered with walking as an integral part of daily life of people while it has earned the distinction as an exercise for staying healthy.

As if an irony of modern life, urbanites conscious of their health to be derived by walking are struggling to safeguard both land area in cities exclusively for walking and, more importantly, lung space enough for ambient air quality to remain in prescribed range with respect to pollutants such as carbon-di-oxide, particulate matter, nitrogen compounds and other obnoxious components. Further, officially reducing open space in cities such as Bengaluru to less than 20 per cent, compared to the minimum of 25 per cent has hurt health of the citizens significantly. Same semblance of awareness about damage control of ill-health-causing actions taking place unabated, urbanites are turning to yoga, meditation and consuming organic foods, apart from taking to jogging as a fad, although by a small fraction in the urban population.

A report based on studies by a research team at the Norwegian School of Sport Science, published recently suggests that all physical activity counts for longer and better quality of life with the message that people who get a small amount of exercise are less likely to die prematurely than their more sedentary counterparts, with the bottom line: Sit less. Also, administration's inputs into keeping the environs, like in Mysuru, free from pollution of air, water and food can contribute to longevity of citizens.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Chairman of the Press Council of India came up with a bewildering separation of "individual right and national interest", thus reducing the right of the Press to an individual right. The rights of the Press do not pertain to the right of any individual reporter or media organisation. The Freedom of the Press represents the collective will of the people. It flows from Article 19 of the Constitution. The rights and privileges of the Press are devised to provide crucial information to citizens so that they can make informed choices in a Democracy. So, it is very disturbing that this public good is being converted into an "individual right".

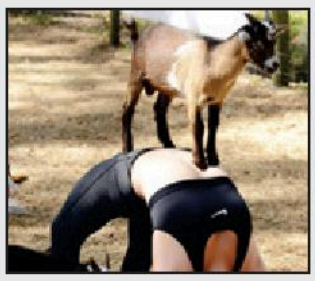
Goat yoga to break Guinness World Record



Florida: A Florida farm said it is expecting over 500 people to participate in its attempt to break a Guinness World Record for the world's largest goat yoga session.

56-year-old Debbie Canton, who owns Grady Goat Farm in Thonotosassa, Hillsborough County, with her husband, Rob, said more than 500 people and 110 goats are expected to participate in the world record attempt.

The current record stands at 351 people and 84 goats, set in February at a goat yoga class in Arizona, and Maan Farms in Abbotsford, British Columbia, unofficially broke the record in June with more than 400 people participating.

The record attempt is a fundraiser for Global Offensive Against Trafficking, or Project G.O.A.T., a project that opposes human trafficking and sexual exploitation of children. The project is part of the Grady Goat Foundation, a charity founded by the Cantons.

Man converts boat and SUV into 'boat car'

Florida: A Florida driver is making heads turn on local roads while cruising around in an unusual vehicle -- a "boat car."

The boat car, owned by Pensacola man Gerry Moore, was made from a decommissioned boat and the bottom half of a Ford Expedition SUV.

Gerry Moore said he was careful to make sure the vehicle was street legal before taking out on Pensacola roads. "As long as you have headlights, tail lights, turn signals and horns, you're good," he said.

Moore said the boat car's top is always down, so he keeps a scuba mask and a snorkel on deck in case of rain.

Kodagu disaster: GSI must be more pragmatic and purposeful

Sir,

This is in response to the letter by Geologist Mrinmoy Chakraborty (SOM dated Aug.11, 2019) defending the views of the Geological Survey of India (GSI) published in SOM dated Apr.25. I write this to bring to light a few facts that go to show that Chakraborty has hastened to defend the warnings given by GSI a bit too early and to furnish some clarifications regarding the extreme events that wreaked havoc in Kodagu this August and perceptions arising out of them.

The series of landslides that devastated Kodagu in 2018 occurred mostly during the period 15th, 16th and 17th August. Some intriguing data on rainfall pertaining to this period tells the story. This data is from the rain gauge at Kudigana, a place near the border of the catchment of Harangi, which witnessed the worst kind of disasters in 2018.

Record rainfall

Till 6th August, the station had recorded about 5,500 mm of rain, and then on rainfall on the successive days read (in mm): 81, 250, 269, 90, 115, 121, 262, 295, 320, 461 (16th), 394, 197, 164, 95, the total for the fortnight amounting to 3,114 mm (Mysuru's annual rainfall is 780 mm). Probably the 5-day extreme rainfall recorded then at Kudigana (1,686 mm) is the highest ever recorded in the rain gauging history of Kodagu (which extends for over 120 years now), the earlier highest being 1,462 mm in 1964 pertaining to the station of Bhagamandala.

On the other hand, the records at Kudigana for this year read thus: Total rainfall up to 1st August – 2,041 mm; then on – 30, 0, 16, 136, 183, 254, 312, 276, 298, 158, 90, 46, 35, 100 (15th), during the next 14 days – this is the period when the floods ravaged the district. The extremes here are just about 75% of last year's and the total for season up to 20th Aug. is not even half of last year's (nearly 4,090 and 8,614 mm respectively).

Once in 10-12 years

The highest one-day rainfall recorded this year has been reported from Bhagamandala, places around which contribute to flow in Cauvery and stands at 400 mm. The seven-day extreme for this year here has been 1,142 mm. Strangely, these values have return periods of 12 years and 10 years respectively.

This means, the type of flood-causing rain that fell this year occurs, according to data available, nearly once in 10-12 years. Even the flood magnitudes in the four rivers of the basin that were reported this year have return periods of 15 - 20 years.

On the other hand, the rainfall of 2018 that caused havoc in areas around Madikeri and in the catchment of Harangi shows a return period of over 50 years! This is the reason why even though Kodagu experienced severe floods this August, only just a couple of incidents of severe landslides have occurred.

Technical data

Very often, blockage of roads due to mud falls from tall and nearly vertical cuttings (Plate 1), many times triggered by uprooting of trees and washing away of the valley side road formations, are also termed as landslides, while the landslides of 2018 were removal of unimaginably large portions of hills, mostly in the valleys.

A large number of the over 150 landslides that occurred then got initiated far away from the highways and inhabitations (Plate 2), in total contrast to the common belief that tampering with nature and cutting land indiscreetly is the root-cause of landslides.

Many of these slides carried tens of thousands of cubic meters (like 200 m x 100 m x 2 m) of earth submerging hundreds of hectares of land downstream in mud (Plate 3 and 4). However, even earth falls of volume of a few hundred cubic meters (20 m x 10 m x 2 m) block roads and cause damage to houses — only one landslide of the former nature has been reported this year. It is not strange that extremes not quantified by measurements are blown out of proportion, painted colourfully and projected as catastrophes in this era of rampant use of mass and social media.

Predictions fail

Dr. H.S.M. Prakash, Director General of GSI, is reported to have explained (SOM, 25th April) thus: "There are indications of excessive downpour happening in five phases just like last year ..."; "likewise, three to four more similar downpours are likely to be experienced... The rainfall in August is likely to result in floods". Yes, one spell of rainfall has resulted in floods. But what about the rest? It is a common experience that any astrologer, once approached, would point out a number of cases in which his predictions have gone perfectly right, hiding others! The fact is that rainfall in Kodagu this year has been very poor except for that one spell — even after that week of deluge, the total seasonal rainfall for the year remains 25-40% lower than the normal (except in small pockets of Virajpet), while the last year it was about 25-50% higher than the normal.

Strong low pressure

It is claimed by Chakraborty (SOM, 11th Aug.) that the predictions for this year have been those based on "evidences". Dr. Prakash had explained: "There is a possibility of heavy rain being caused due to volcanic eruptions in Hawaii and Mauritius. And, as if an indication, it has already started raining in Kodagu (in April)".

It is utterly sad that an agency with a legacy of 200 years has fished out evidences for the floods in August, in the excessive rainfall of April! It is well established that the pre-monsoon rains of April and May are a phenomenon occurring due to local convections, while the monsoon rains in Kodagu are due to the global circulation, aided by strong low pressures in North/ Central India and the local orography (high rising mountains) of the Sahyadris.

It is now popularly known that the excessive rainfall of the ten days of August this year has been due to a strong low pressure that developed in the Odisha coast, and experts from GSI claim it to be due to excessive heat of magma in Mauritius!!

Better to err on safer side

Being half correct about events not known of is one hundred perfect in Statistics — probably the messengers, the people at the helm of affairs, believe that it is better to err on the safer side than on the other. Sweeping and arbitrary long-range predictions are not only unwarranted, but are also dangerous.

Rather, there shall be healthy introspection and debate on why even extreme events of smaller magnitude have been resulting in excessive damages in recent days. Further, very little of the Hydrology of this region has been understood, much remains to be done. It is hoped that the agencies concerned take a more pragmatic and purposeful look at the recent events and use them to learn about the region.

Multi-Film Studio, Logistics Park planned for Mysuru: MP

To be built on the lines of Ramoji Film City: Pratap Simha

Mysuru, Sept.16 (RKB&BCT)- The much sought-after and forgotten Film City, which was granted to Mysuru, the City of Palaces when Siddharamaiah was the Chief Minister and which was later shifted to Ramanagara when H.D. Kumaraswamy was the CM, is in the news again.

And this time, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha has announced that works are underway to set up a Multi-Film Studio and Logistics Park on the lines of Ramoji Film City in Hyderabad.

Incidentally, Simha had recently visited Ramoji Film City in Hyderabad and had met its CEO Rajeev Jalnapurkar and requested him to build a Film City in Mysuru.

In his recent Twitter post, Simha had posted photos of his visit and had revealed that he had invited Rajeev to visit Mysuru and build a plan for the proposed Film City.

The Ramoji Film City that is located in Hyderabad (Telangana) is the largest integrated Film City and has been certified by the Guinness World Records as the largest studio complex in the world. It was built in 1996 by Telugu film producer, C. Ramoji Rao.

Yesterday, an event was held at the Golden Jubilee Hall of NIE College in city where Alamelamma Memorial Scholarships were distributed to students under the aegis of Hulagadri Trust.

At the event, Pratap Simha said that Mysuru attracts over 35 lakh tourists every year and the numbers keep rising. "A Multi-Studio and Logistics Park will provide filmmakers to come to Mysuru and this will also boost tourism," he said.

"Most of the tourists come to Mysuru, visit a few tourist destinations and leave the city. They do not have a place to spend at least two to three days. A Film City like the Ramoji Film City will retain tourists. Plans are afoot to build the Film City infrastructure in Mysuru," he said. Simha added that Mysuru is best suited for the Film City as there are over 250 scenic locations to shoot a movie.

Touching upon other aspects of Mysuru Tourism, the MP said that except for the vast contribution of Wadiyars to the sector, no politician from the region has taken a keen interest in promoting tourism. "The contribution of Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar, Jayachamaraja Wadiyar and Sir M. Visvesvaraya is memorable and emulation-worthy. Unfortunately, today some political leaders talk lightly about them and negate their valuable contribution to tourism," he added.

Former Director of Mysore Medical College and Research Institute (MMC&RI) Dr. Geetha K. Avadhani, US-based doctor Meera V. Nathan, Adarsha Seva Trust President G.R. Nagaraj, Hon. Secretary R. Ramakrishna and others were present.

Dinakar Desai enlightened State through his writings: Littérateur

Mysuru, Sept.16 (RKB&DM)- Stating that writer Dinakar Desai has enlightened the State through his writings, thus befitting his name, Littérateur Bannur K. Raju has said that the great limerick writer also involved himself in building the society.

He was speaking after inaugurating 'Chutuku Kavigoshti' organised jointly by Hiranmayi Pratishtana and Muddukrishna Pratishtana at the Senior Citizens Day Care Centre in Nimishamba Layout here yesterday.

Noting that Dinakar Desai was multi-faceted personality — a poet, teacher, agriculturist, journalist, freedom fighter, educationalist etc. — Raju said that Dinakar Desai dedicated himself for the well-being of the society.

Recalling that Desai, who hailed from Uttara Kannada district, set up over 40 Educational Institutions in the district, he said that it would not be wrong to say that Desai revolutionised education in the district.

Littérateur Bannur K. Raju felicitating artist Dr. Jamuna Rani Mirle during 'Chutuku Kavigoshti' at Senior Citizens Day Care Centre in Nimishamba Layout yesterday. Veteran cultural thinker Yashodamma (sitting) was also felicitated on the occasion.

Recalling the spirit of the ever enthusiastic Desai, he said that the great writer must be credited for Farmer Movement and bringing unity among Mumbai Shipyard workers.

Stating that Desai was also an active journalist and started 'Janasevaka,' a local newspaper, he said that Dinakar Desai became the first MP from the State to get elected as an independent candidate to the Lok Sabha in 1967 contesting from the then Canara constituency.

More than 35 poets took part in the Chutuku Kavigoshti.

Aritst Dr. Jamuna Rani Mirle and veteran cultural thinker Yashodamma were felicitated on the occasion. Senior Citizens Day Care Centre Head Prabhuswamy presided. Hiranmayi Pratishtana's A. Sangappa, Muddukrishna Prakashana's M. Muthuswamy, retired teacher Venkatanarayana and others were present.

Design Dasara Sports logo and win prize

Mysuru, Sept.16- The Dasara Sports Sub-Committee has invited logo designs for Dasara Sports under the heading 'Chief Minister's Cup'.

The logo should include art, culture and sports of the State. Intellectuals, associations, organisations, school and college students and professionals can design the logos and submit the same at the Department of Youth Empowerment and Sports office, Chamundi Vihar Stadium, Nazarbad, before Sept.17. Those selected will be given prizes. For details, call Ph: 0821-2564179.

Dasara Wrestling-2019
Pairing on Sept. 22

Mysuru, Sept. 16 - The Dasara Wrestling Sub-Committee will conduct the pairing of wrestlers for the upcoming Dasara Wrestling Tournament on Sept. 22 at 10 am.

The pairing event will be held at B.V. Karanth Rangamandira in Dasara Exhibition premises. Interested wrestlers must bring their two passport size photographs and two photographs dressed in wrestling attire. Wrestlers must also provide details of their bank account, IFSC code and Aadhaar number along with the copy of their passbook and Aadhaar card to the organisers along with the filled application.

The wrestling competition will be held between Sept. 29 and Oct. 4 everyday from 3.30 pm at D. Devaraj Urs Multi-purpose Stadium in Doddakere Maidan.

Dasara Sports Meet for senior citizens

Mysuru, Sept.16- The Department of Women and Child Development, in association with Senior Citizen Sakala Seva Kendra Trust and Karnataka State Retired Employees Association, will be conducting Dasara Sports Meet and Cultural Contests for senior citizens shortly.

The sports meet will have pot-breaking and 200 mts walk for both men and women aged over 60 years.

The events will be held under three categories — 60-70 years, 71-80 years and 80 years above.

The cultural contest will feature mono acting and folk songs for all three categories.

Interested senior citizens may contact P. Rajappa, President, Senior Citizen Sakala Seva Kendra Trust, No.31, 1st Floor, near RMP Colony, Adichunchanagiri Road, Kuvempunagar. For details, call Ph: 0821-4191266 or Mob: 91416-14633.

Dasara Heli-rides from Sept. 27
Ticket price to be fixed soon

Mysuru, Sept. 16 (KS) - This year too, tourists and residents can hop into choppers to get a bird's eye view of all the iconic places in Mysuru including the famous Mysore Palace and the Chamundi Hill. The helicopter rides will begin from Sept. 27 to Oct. 10 and talks are going on to retain last year's ticket price of Rs. 2,500 per person.

The ride begins from the Lalitha Mahal Helipad and will cover the whole city in 10 to 15 minutes. During this ten-minute aerial tour, one can view most of the tourist spots including the Mysore Palace, bus stands, Chamundi Hill, Lalitha Mahal Palace Hotel, Kukkarahalli Lake, Crawford Hall, Railway Station, Jaganmohan Palace, Karanji Lake, Exhibition Grounds, KRS backwaters and other prominent tourists spots across city.

Helicopter service companies Pavan Hans, Chipsan Aviation and Thumby Aviation Pvt. Ltd. are participating in the tender process and the company which charges the lowest fare will be allowed to conduct heli-rides from Sept. 27 to Oct. 10.

Last year, 1,400 people went for heli-rides and the number of people going for heli-rides is expected to increase this year.

Engineers felicitated on Engineers' Day

Engineers who were felicitated on the occasion of Engineers' Day are seen with former MP A.H. Vishwanath, MLAs Tanveer Sait and L. Nagendra, JSS Science and Technology University VC Dr. B.G. Sangameshwar, IEI Mysuru Chairman Dr. R. Suresh, Secretary D.K. Dinesh Kumar, former Chairman M. Lakshmana, Convenors K.B. Bhaskar, A.S. Satish and others.

Mysuru, Sept.16 (MK&US)- Marking Engineers' Day, commemorating the birth anniversary of Sir M. Visvesvaraya, Institute of Engineers India (IEI) Mysuru Chapter had organised a programme at its premises on JLB Road here yesterday.

Speaking on the occasion Vice-Chancellor of JSS Science and Technology University Dr. B.G. Sangameshwar observed that about 15 lakh engineers come out every year from colleges after graduation but are not effectively utilised in the country despite a demand for engineers.

He opined that in an industry there should be one engineer for six technicians but regretted that in some cases the figures are reversed.

He felt that engineering students too, like diploma and ITI, need good practical training.

Continuing, Sangameshwar heaped praises on Sir MV and Dr. S. Radhakrishnan who are role models for engineers and educationalists respectively.

He recalled the immense contribution of Sir MV to the State who always declined an official car unlike today's elected people's representatives who demand a particular brand of car.

Engineers K.G. Vishwanath, H.S. Ranganath, Shakaregowda, Dr. Shankaraiah, Srinath, K.L. Jayaram and Supriya Saliyan were felicitated on the occasion.

'Spiritual strength is the foundation for all success'
'Chaturmasya Vratha' concludes

Mysuru, Sept.16(US&YDS)- "The faith and devotion towards Hindu religion are being challenged by certain forces but to no avail," opined Assembly Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri.

Speaking at the valedictory of the Chaturmasya Vratha programme at Sri Krishnadhama in Saraswathipuram here on Saturday evening, Kageri observed that a few people try to find faults in our culture, but deep-rooted thoughtful truths cannot be erased or concealed.

He asked people to determine to save the culture, society and the nation and hailed the Chaturmasya Vratha in that direction.

Continuing, Kageri observed that western culture was creeping in through TV and mobile phones, but said that none used the cellphone while participating in the Chaturmasya programme which has to be appreciated. This sends a message to youngsters, he added.

Going further, Kageri opined that spiritual strength is the foundation for all success which should not be misconstrued as superstitions. He contended that seeing divinity in a tree, water (theertha) and cow is wrongly portrayed as superstition.

Pejawar Seer Sri Vishwesha Teertha Swamiji and Junior Seer Sri Vishwa Prasannatheertha Swamiji graced the occasion.

MLA S.A. Ramdas, Sri Krishna Trust President R. Vasudeva Bhat, Working President M. Krishnadas Puranik, Vice-President J.L. Anantha Thantri and others were present.

103rd birth anniversary of M.S. Subbulakshmi today: A Tribute

'MS' - The Muse of Music

A BOAT RIDE: M.S. Subbulakshmi, T. Sadasivam, Girija, Radha Viswanathan and Girija's friend.

Tamboora of MS gifted to Indian Music Experience (IME) - Music Museum in Bengaluru at a ceremony held on Jan. 26, 2018. S.M. Krishna, Chairman of the IME's Advisory Board, is seen among the recipients.

By Girija Madhavan

The 103rd birth anniversary of M.S. Subbulakshmi [1916-2004] falls on 16th September 2019 and will be marked by lovers of music. She was known as 'MS' to her admirers and was special to me too.

In 1942, I remember attending an 'Upanayanam' in Madras, [now Chennai]. I was about four years old, playing in the sand under the rows of chairs in a 'Pandal'. MS, a vision in a shimmering green and red silk saree, ascended the dais for her concert. Later I learnt that the ceremony was for my future husband, A. Madhavan, then nine years old. My parents-in-law were Rasikas who admired MS.

Strands of her music are woven into my memories in a golden skein. We collected some early 78 RPM records, audio tapes and CDs. On vacations in Mysuru in the 60s, I would wake up early to the strains of her "Suprabhatam" played on the loudspeaker of a small local teashop.

From 1974 to 1977, we lived in Hong Kong, where my husband was posted as Commissioner of India. MS was to receive the Ramon Magsaysay Award in person in Manila in 1974. She travelled there with her husband T. Sadasivam and step-daughter, Radha Viswanathan. On their way home they decided to stop over in Hong Kong and opted to stay with us rather than in a hotel. I felt honoured as well as flustered to receive them, concerned about providing them their needs. We had a dour Chinese Amah called Ah Li and an elderly cook, Ah Wu. He always addresses me as "Missy" in the Chinese/ English dialect. Though polite, he told me firmly "Missy wantee Indian food for guest, Missy make. I no can doing." Short cuts like ready made idly or dosa batters, were not available, my own culinary abilities were limited. I was to take them sightseeing, so there was little time to spend in the kitchen.

I need not have worried as they were accommodating, trying different breakfast foods, favouring toasted wheat germ with honey of various flavours and milk. They enjoyed exotic fruit like rambutan and mangosteen. Radha was very caring about 'Amma' and helped me get her a cup of warm milk or cocoa at bed time.

Our home was halfway up Shouson Hill, famous for the British fortifications against the Japanese in the Second World War. They admired the view from the balcony. Below was the wide sweep of Deep Water Bay with its pristine beach. 'Tiger Mountain' sloped down to the sea while the sky above provided varying shades of colour, light and shade to the scene. Ocean Park and the aquariums are now situated in this area.

I worried about the local laundry as I had been over-charged for 'One long tablecloth', when I sent a saree to them. Sadasivam only wore very fine cotton dhotis. To my surprise Ah Li laundered and starched them well, but refused to do them twice a day with 'No can doing'. I arranged some shopping and a boat ride to see Hong Kong from the sea for them.

Madhavan had the more difficult job of arranging a concert for MS at short notice. Hong Kong then was a British Crown Colony. The social circle consisted of British officials headed by the Governor, businessmen, expats and foreigners. There were rich Chinese with lavish life styles, the working class, fisher and boat people such as in 'Aberdeen', a boat and seaside settlement.

Hong Kong had a big Indian community of many ethnic groups. While modern and sophisticated, they also carefully maintained their social and religious traditions. The Sindhi community for example, was a large one with some wealthy and prominent members. They had their own radio programmes and papers and an active social life. A young couple held a "Black and White" theme party in a fashionable hotel; the ladies wore black or white sarees or dresses with glittering jewellery to match, the men were in tuxedos. The dining room decor featured linen and crockery designed in black and white, wall decorations also carried the same motif. The party was a resounding success. But afterwards, going home on the winding hill-roads, the host's car was involved in a pileup with those of some guests, there were injuries and jewellery went missing. A 'homa' was held to off-set the effects of the unlucky black and white theme.

AT A LATER DATE: Girija in the saree gifted to her by MS.

Karnatak music was not well-known to the diaspora. What kind of dance did the artiste perform, asked a few. The Indian Associations agreed to publicise the event and a concert was arranged. That day MS made a gracious gesture to me. She used to have sarees specially woven for her in unique colour combinations. The 'MS Blue' was much sought after. For this concert she and Radha Viswanathan had chosen a purplish silk with a crimson border adorned with two rows of gold lace 'rudraksham' motifs. I was overwhelmed when she gave me an identical saree. That saree has been a favourite of mine over the years.

Identically attired, we drove to the concert hall, where a curious and expectant audience waited. After fine tuning her tamboora and singing a soft 'Sa Pa Sa', MS started the alapana of Raga Shankarabharanam, one of Madhavan's favourites. The audience was unfamiliar with this classical style. Gauging the moment, MS slipped into a devotional mood. Her Meera Bhajans soon had people smiling and swaying to the lilting rhythm and soulful rendering. MS left to thunderous applause, a tribute to her mystical music and her extraordinary presence.

Later, when we were in Chennai, MS invited us to breakfast at her home. She received us in a large room. Paintings of the Karnatak Trinity of Saint Thyagaraja, Muthuswamy Dikshitar and Shyama Sastry decorated the walls. In two corners were glass cases holding beautiful tambooras. The smiling, gracious of her in this setting is our last and abiding memory of MS.

Railways launch Cleanliness Fortnight

City Railway Station bags No. 4 spot in country for cleanliness

Mysuru, Sept. 16 (RKB& NNN)- Indian Railways, as part of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Swachh Bharat initiative, is striving hard to maintain Railway Stations and trains as well as surrounding areas clean through its Swachch Rail Swachch Bharat Programme. As part of this initiative, Swachchta Pakhwada (Cleanliness Fortnight) has been launched from today till Oct.2, in Mysuru Division, said General Manager of South Western Railway (SWR) Ajay Kumar Singh.

Addressing a press conference at the City Railway Station premises here this morning, he said that Mysuru bagged the Number 4 Station spot for cleanliness among the 64 divisions in the country and in the South Western Railway among all the three divisions of Bengaluru, Hubballi and Mysuru, it had bagged the top spot.

Each day of the Pakhwada has been associated with a particular theme pertaining to cleanliness and as part of this, the message on ban on single use of plastic will be spread across the length and breadth of the Division till Oct.2, he said.

The Swachchta Fortnight, as part of Swachch Rail Swachch Bharat Mission will see a series of activities throughout the Division to bring about lasting improvements on cleanliness. The passenger feedback and suggestions collected during field inspections by officials and those posted on social media platforms will be acted upon to achieve the desired results, said Singh and added that the special trains to Dasara will be run based on the demand.

SWR Mysuru DRM Aparna Garg explaining about the augmented Linen Care Centre (laundry) to SWR General Manager Ajay Kumar Singh this morning.

The newly-developed track side green nursery that was launched this morning by SWR General Manager Ajay Kumar Singh in Mysuru.

This year PM Modi launched the drive against single use plastic and not a single plastic will be allowed inside the Stations or in the compartments. The augmented Linen Care Centre (laundry) and the newly developed track side green nursery was also launched this morning, as per Minister of Railways Piyush Goyal and Minister of State for Railways Suresh Angadi's directive to increase and create awareness on environment and enhance appearance of landscape alongside track. In addition to this, saplings will be planted along the track, he said.

SWR Mysuru Divisional Railway Manager Aparna Garg said that single use plastic is completely banned and even shops inside the Railway Stations are not allowed to stock them. Instead, the passengers as well as the shopkeepers have been asked to use paper bags or cloth bags. The SWR has installed a bottle crushing machine to help recycle the plastic waste generated daily at the city Railway Station and one such machine will also be installed at Hassan Railway Station, she said.

The Railways was forced to give the linen of about 1.5 ton outside for washing and there were many complaints. Now, it has gone up to 2.7 tons and hence four washing machines have been installed in place of two and two dryers have also been installed in place of one, which will be run by the Railway Department itself. The contract for two years was Rs.1.2 crore and a major portion of this money can be saved with this move, she said.

Earlier to the press meet, as part of the programme on the inaugural day, Ajay Kumar Singh, flagged off a Prabhat Pheri (Walkathon) with officers and staff, their family members, Scouts and Guides, Station cleaning staff and others participating in it.

Shramdaan campaign

The walkathon, which started from Vontikoppal Railway Colony at 8 am reached Platform 1 of Railway Station where Swachhta Pledge was administered by Singh; Railwaymen committed themselves to 2 hours of devoted Shramdaan every week.

The General Manager, speaking on the occasion, sought the blessings of Goddess Chamundeshwari, the presiding deity of Mysuru and wanted the dirt and ugliness everywhere to be eradicated like the Goddess annihilated demon Mahishasura.

A skit was performed by Scouts and Guides highlighting the need for constructive contribution by every citizen, at all levels and from all walks of life so that the dream of Mahatma Gandhi for a Clean India can be realised.

Coinciding with the birthday of Prime Minister Narendra Modi tomorrow (Sept.17), a massive Shramdaan campaign will be organised with participation and involvement of all Railway employees, their family members, staff unions and others with main focus on collection of plastic waste from all Railway premises including platforms, train tracks, Railway School, Hospital, Colonies and also special attention will be given to approaches to Railway Stations over the Division.

On Sept. 18, there will be a campaign for bio-toilets and notices will be pasted in all Railway Stations, Railway Colonies, running rooms regarding anti-littering and also in all the schools.

'Only lion-hearted patriots see Veer Savarkar as a tall leader'

The history writers, who were serving the political masters, have done injustice to Savarkar by not recording his contributions. Patriot, revolutionary, and social reformer, Savarkar had written 10,000 patriotic songs with his finger nails on the jail walls when he was refused a pen and paper. Though it was erased, those verses were published when came out as he had committed them to his memory, said Surya, drawing huge applause from the audience.

Along with this, Savarkar who had spoken about inter-caste marriages, sahapankti bhojana (community meal), widow remarriage, had also exhorted the people to come out of 'Saptabandha' relations and become social activists. He had a dream of Hindu consolidation in other parts of the world too. As a prelude to this, Prime Minister Narendra Modi is trying to establish a strong relationship with Israel. In the 'Howdy Modi' rally in Houston, USA, to be held on Sept.22, in which 50,000 Indians are going to be present, President Donald Trump himself has asked 'whether I could participate,' he said (Howdy slang means 'How are you?').

Savarkar was a strong opponent of untouchability. He believed that in everyone's body same blood flows and he wanted to create this awareness among everyone. If anyone gave full cooperation to Dr. Ambedkar, it was only Savarkar. He had questioned the society as to how anyone could treat a man of letters like Ambedkar as an untouchable, asked Surya.

A man with a poet's heart and also a revolutionary, Savarkar, had long ago written about the country's youth. "According to me the young Indians must read books by Swami Vivekananda, Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, Aurobindo Ghosh and Savarkar," said the young, 28-year-old MP.

As history was being crafted to suit the political leaders and their ideas, the true picture was hidden. No proper research was done nor reference given. Writer S.L. Bhyrappa, in his novel 'Aavrana,' has given the reference list at the end of the book, may be to make his narrative authentic. Vikram Sampath too has given the list of references at the end of the book about his research. In his book the injustice done to Savarkar has been righted. Just like Dhananjay Keer who had penned the most authentic book on Savarkar, even Vikram Sampath has done justice, said Surya praising the author.

Not a mercy petition

Earlier author Vikram Sampath, who was in conversation with Vasanthi Hariprakash, Founder Editor, Pickle Jar, recalled his association with Mysuru and how he was mesmerised by the tales of the royal dynasty which his grandmother used to share with him. This resulted in the book 'Splendours of Royal Mysore: The Untold Story of the Wodeyars.'

Asked about the petition Savarkar gave to the British to release his jailmates, he said that there is false propaganda about the petition by calling it mercy petition. He said that a patriot and social reformer like Savarkar never gave a 'mercy petition,' it was a petition in which he said if the request is refused because of him, then he would remain in jail and others may be released.

In the question and answer that followed, Sampath wished that a relook was needed into Savarkar's real thoughts and ideas, and said that earlier Hindutva was not a big political force but in today's times it had grown into one. A patriot like the revolutionary Savarkar was being shown in poor light, he said in reply to another question and his aim as a historian was to throw light on such a great leader who was deliberately sidetracked.

He also pointed out that the present book was from the time of Savarkar's birth in 1883 to 1924 and he was penning the second part which is likely to be released at the end of next year.

In another question posed by an audience, whether Savarkar's photo could also be used on currency notes like Gandhiji's, Samapth said that he was not the right person to answer that and then Tejasvi Surya, MP, deftly sidelined the question with a quip, "Right now that question is not all that important. We have to see whether we have enough currency in our pockets."

However, after a pause, Surya said that he had given it a thought and written to the Prime Minister about it saying that the American currency system could be followed where the faces of many leaders like Thomas Jefferson, George Washington and others are printed on currencies of different denominations.

In reply to another question by Editor-in-Chief of Star of Mysore and Mysuru Mithra, K.B. Ganapathy, whether the name plaque of Veer Savarkar, which was removed by the Congress Government, was restored in the Cellular Jail in the Andamans, Sampath said that it had been done.

Earlier, Mysore Literary Forum Charitable Trust's new project 'Read to Lead 2020' was launched. Mysuru Book Clubs-2015 Founder and Trust Chairperson Shubha Sanjay Urs, Trustees Sam Cherian, Raian Irani, Thankam Panakal and Kitty Mandana were present on the dais. A copy of the book 'Savarkar: Echoes from a Forgotten Past' was presented to K.B. Ganapathy, industrialist R. Guru and Paediatrician and RSS ideologue Dr. V. Bapat.

The popularity of this event has grown multi-fold over the years and this year, a whopping 260 teams from across the State will perform during the 10-day cultural festival that will conclude on Sept. 26. The best teams of Yuva Sambhrama are provided an opportunity to perform in Yuva Dasara scheduled to be held between Sept. 30 and Oct. 6, at Maharaja's College Grounds.

A platform for all: Initially, Yuva Sambhrama was started to provide a platform to those students and youth who have missed a chance to perform in the main event, Yuva Dasara. Later, Yuva Sambhrama became a selection platform where the performance is adjudged and the best performing team will get to perform at Yuva Dasara.

Usually, youths and students from Mysuru, Mandya, Kodagu and Chamarajanagar participate in Yuva Sambhrama . The event has become so popular that this year, several schools, colleges and youths from North Karnataka region are demanding for an opportunity to participate in Yuva Sambhrama . They have got entries from colleges in Dharwad and Shivamogga.

While last year, 162 teams had participated in the 8-day event, this year, the organisers have received 278 applications and the event has been extended to 10 days. Over 20 teams will perform every day and in 10 days, there will be more than 1,000 performers. Each team will be allotted 8 to 10 minutes to perform.

Theme-based performance: On the inaugural day tomorrow, 20 colleges will set the stage on fire with their performances.

Incentive of Rs. 7,500: Each participating team will have 25 to 50 performers and they will have to pay Rs. 500 as casting charge and Rs. 100 as practice fee. As an incentive to each team, the District Administration will pay Rs. 7,500 to each team. This incentive budget alone will come up to Rs. 19,50,000 for 260 teams. Also, KSRTC bus fares will be given to all outstation participants.

On complaints that last year the team incentive was not paid to many colleges, Superintendent of Police C.B. Ryshyanth, who is the Chairman of Yuva Sambhrama Sub-Committee, said that this year, cheques to the teams will be given on-the-spot. "Last year, teams did not receive the money as it was decided to transfer the money directly to accounts through RTGS and many colleges had wrongly mentioned the account numbers," he said. This year, cheques will be handed over soon after the performance, he added.

Guests at inauguration: Tomorrow's stage programme will be inaugurated by Mysuru District Minister V. Somanna at 6 pm at the Open Air Theatre. Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra will preside. 'Golden Star' Ganesh will add filmy touch to the event. Tourism Minister C.T. Ravi, Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath, MPs Pratap Simha, Sumalatha Ambarish and V. Sreenivasa Prasad and others will be the chief guests.

Traffic ban around Open Air Theatre

Mysuru, Sept. 16- In view of the large crowds that gather for Yuva Sambhrama at Open Air Theatre in Manasagangothri, the City Police has enforced a traffic ban in the area between 3 pm and 11 pm for 10 days.

Alternative route: Traffic that moves on Hunsur Road and takes a turn at the traffic junction to enter the Open Air Theatre Road has to take a right turn to the west at the Senate Bhavan and enter Manasagangothri campus and then move towards Bogadi Road.

Vehicles coming from Bogadi Road side that want to pass through Open Air Theatre Road to enter Hunsur Road have to pass the junction at Open Air Theatre Road and move straight on Bogadi Road, take a right turn at All India Institute of Speech and Hearing junction and move on Chaduranga Road, take a turn at Hunsur Road junction.

Vehicle Parking: Parking arrangements for four-wheelers have been made at the vacant space near Cricket Grounds and all type of vehicles can be parked at Village Hostel Grounds on Bogadi Road. Two-wheelers can be parked on South side of Open Air Theatre in vacant grounds.

'Bhagavad Gita is among the most translated epics'

Mysuru, Sept.16 (PM&DM)- 'Bhagavad Gita' is among the most translated epics in the world, said former head of the department of Ancient History and Archaeology, University of Mysore, Prof. A.V. Narasimha Murthy.

Prof. Murthy, who is also the Chairman of Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan (BVB), Mysuru added that the epic has been translated into more than 300 languages including English which shows its enormous popularity.

He was speaking at a programme organised jointly by Samskruti Prakashana and Srinidhi books for the release of author Dr.V. Ranganath's (a retired Tahsildar) works titled, 'Neevu Nammavaralla, Naave Nimmavaru!' (a collection of his articles published in SOM's sister concern 'Mysooru Mithra' and 'Namma Hemmeya Rashtradhwaja' at Gopalaswamy Sishuvihara auditorium, Nanjumalige, here yesterday.

Pointing out that one of the chapters in Dr. Ranganath's work 'Neevu Nammavaralla, Naave Nimmavaru', explains the gist of Bhagavad Gita, Prof. Narasimhamurthy said the book throws light on some of the episodes in the epic.

Noting that being a columnist himself, he can understand the challenges, Prof. Narasimhamurthy said that a columnist has the task of collecting all required information and putting them together in the form of an article in a short span of time. Stating that one of the chapters in the book has reference to minimum educational qualification for our rulers, Prof. Murthy opined that a peoples representative will be found wanting to answer questions if he/she is lacking in education.

Continuing, Prof. Murthy said that another chapter in the book throws light on our food habits and stresses on the need for consuming only the required quantity of food. He further said that the book also criticises Educational Institutions which are after money.

Maharaja Education Trust President Dr.S. Murali who released the work, said that our thoughts gets strengthened by only reading books.

Emphasising on the need for an author to maintain social commitment, he said that Dr. Ranganath has successfully done this in his works.

Dr. Jayashree Chandrashekar said that 'Namma Hemmeya Rashtradwaja' throws light on the traditions of our national flag.

Pointing out that the author Dr.V. Ranganath, a former Tahsildar earned his Ph.D. for his research work on Dasara festivities, she said that the book also traces the historical background and the pride associated with our national flag. The author of the books Dr. V. Ranganath, writer Samskruthi Subramanya and others were present.

New-born baby found on road wrapped in plastic cover

Mysuru, Sept.16- In an inhumane incident, a just-born baby girl was found wrapped in a plastic cover on Srirampura Main Road in city this morning.

Pedestrians, who found the plastic cover, opened it only to find the baby, following which they informed the matter to Kuvempunagar Police Station.

Sundari, a woman Head Constable, who rushed to the spot, shifted the new-born baby to Cheluvamba Hospital, where the baby is said to be stable.

It is suspected that somebody may have packed the baby in a plastic cover and thrown it on the road as the baby is a girl. Kuvempunagar Police are investigating.

Calling advertisers

Mysuru, Sept.16- With the Government expected to approve its submission on public advertisement rates, the MCC has called upon advertisers to make use of the MCC's decision to implement the Advertisement by-laws applicable within MCC limits.

The Auditor's report had objected to the MCC's laxity in the collection of advertisement fees, following which the MCC's Council Meeting held on Sept.5, decided to implement the Advertisement by-laws. The interested advertisers are appealed to make use of this opportunity.

The Office of the MCC Deputy Commissioner (Revenue) can be contacted during office-hours for more details regarding advertisement by-laws and the prescribed application forms.

Also, there are 1,82,000 properties coming under MCC jurisdictions, out of which Property Tax related to one lakh properties has been remitted. However, the Property Tax concerning 82,000 properties still remains uncollected. As such, property owners are asked to pay Property Tax considering this as the final notice, without giving scope for attachment of properties due to default on Property Tax payments.

The MCC has uploaded a handbook on Property Tax details on its website: http://www.mysorecity.mrc.gov.in; The handbook can be downloaded for reference, according to a public notification issued by the MCC.

Rajeev Taranath - the genius

Bangalore Brothers display harmony in music

By Dr. Padmavathi Narasimhan

Sarod maestro Pt. Rajeev Taranath performing at the 8th Cross Ganesha Pandal in city on Sept.6.

Bangalore Brothers — S. Ashok and M.B. Hariharan — presenting a vocal duet at 8th Cross, V.V. Mohalla on Sept.7. They are accompanied by H.S. Sudheendra on mridanga, Phaneendra Bhaskar on ghata and Matthur Srinidhi on violin.

It is no joke for a musician to be performing at the age of 86. Sarod playing demands a particular posture which is not easy to manage for more than half-an-hour at the most. But this 86 years young gifted musician sits for more than two hours with his instrument with unflagging attention, oblivion of others' presence, captivated in music.

In the present concert on Sept.6 at 8th Cross Ganeshotsava Music Festival, he was accompanied by Udayraj Karpur, whose two young boys gave an admirable tabla solo performance prior to this concert.

The opening of the concert was with Yaman. The alap was deep and resonated with the veteran master's probing style. His recitals have a very layered multi-dimensional sound. He weaves a veritable tapestry of sound, combining different strokes, different speeds and different playing techniques, creating a rich experience. In spontaneity lies the very essence of Indian classical music.

The maestro then switched to Desh, which was played with great clarity and weight. In both these compositions — the first and the second, the artiste chose 'tantrakari' gat, which was lively. Kafi was played with dignity and depth. But towards the end of the composition, one of the strings gave way and while his pupil replaced the string, the maestro spoke to the audience. He said music is the same for all — whether it is here or in Pakistan. Music pars all boundaries and therefore music is to be enjoyed beyond all the routine that we see in the newspapers every day. The concert concluded with a piece in Sindhubhairavi. Matching his virile stroke work on the tabla was Udayraj Karpur.

On Sept.7, Bangalore Brothers — S. Ashok and M.B. Hariharan — sang with Matthur Srinidhi on violin, H.S. Sudheendra on mridanga and Phaneendra Bhaskar on ghata. Strangely, they are friends and not brothers and yet there is harmony in their music. While Hariharan has a soft voice, Ashok's voice is bold, distinct and valorous. The brothers had chosen some familiar compositions for the evening.

'Ganapate Mahamate' in Kalyani by Muttuswami Deekshitar was appealing and adorned with swaras for the pallavi portion. Hariharan's raga development of Kannada was concise leading to Maharaja Jayachamaraja Wadiyar's 'Sri Chamundeshwari Devi', which also saw vibrant and effervescent swaras to the madhyama Kala Sahitya 'Vara Kannada Raga Santosha'. While Makelara Vicharamu' was a filler, Bhairavi was handled in detail by Ashok, followed by the presentation of Tyagaraja's enchanting 'Upacharamu' set to Adi Tala. A blissful RTP in Aarabhi devoted to Lord Ganesha — 'Vighneshwaram Vinayakam Umasutam Sada Bhajami Guha Sodaram' set to Khanda Triputa Tala supplemented by ragamalika swaras in Hamsadhwani, Brindavani, Vasanti, Behag and Kanada was the main piece of the evening. After a high-spirited taniyavartanam by Sudheendra and Phaneendra Bhaskar, tukkadas followed which included one of the 39 dancing nottuswaras of Muttuswami Deekshitar for which the brothers have become popular — 'Jagadeesha Guruguha Hari Vidhi Vinutam.' These nottuswaras though very short, can enhance the mood of the listener instantly. They are notable as an interaction between the East and the West during Company Rule, being based on Western sources, mostly simple melodies inspired by Scots and Irish tunes. They are all composed with Sanskrit lyrics in the Western C Major scale, whose pitch intervals correspond to that of our Shankarabharana.

Bhajan 'Sri Hanuman Jaya Hanuman', devaranama 'Kashige Hogalubahudu Haridaduvantaha Manava Nilisuvudu Kashta' and the Aarati song in suruti — 'Seetapatiki aaratire' and Purandaradasaru's 'Indina Vaara Shubha Vaara' concluded the concert.

Music Concert by Vidushi Dr. R.N. Srilatha on Sept.19

Mysuru, Sept.16- Ganabharathi has organised a music concert by Vidushi Dr. R.N. Srilatha on Sept.19 at 6 pm at Veene Seshanna Bhavan in Kuvempunagar.

She will be accompanied by Vidushi Veena Suresh on violin, Vidwan G.S. Ramanujan on mridanga and Vidwan V.S. Ramesh on ghata.

Profiles

Dr. R.N. Srilatha hails from a family of musicians of Rudrapatnam. She started her training under her father and guru, Vidwan R.K. Narayana Swamy, who is a direct disciple of Musiri Subramanya Iyer. Later, she had the guidance of her elder brother R.N. Thyagarajan, the elder of famous Rudrapatnam Brothers.

R.N. Srilatha

In addition to classical South Indian music, Srilatha has a wide repertoire in semi-classical North Indian music, bhajans, abhangas, devaranamas, slokas and vachanas. With her rich experience, she gives full-fledged concerts singing either only Devaranamas or Vachanas.

She is an 'A Top Grade' artiste of All India Radio and Doordarshan. She holds a Doctorate degree in Music for her thesis 'Aspects of Manodharma in Karnatak Music.'

Veena Suresh had her initial tutoring from Vidushi M.S. Jayamma, then under the renowned violinist Anoor S. Ramakrishna. Subsequently, she was mentored and moulded by Vidwan H.K. Narasimhamurthy and later she was guided by Padma Bhushan Prof. T.N. Krishnan.

G.S. Ramanujan, a senior student of P.G. Laxminarayan (PGL), is a renowned mridanga player. He has lent laya support to many senior and distinguished artistes. He is equally at ease in ghata.

V.S. Ramesh is also a student of PGL. He has lent laya support to several senior musicians both on mridanga and morching.

Classic Golf & Country Club Intl. Golf Tourney

Indonesia's Rory Hie wins maiden pro title

Rashid Khan of India emerges joint runner-up; Mysuru boy Yashas Chandra fares well

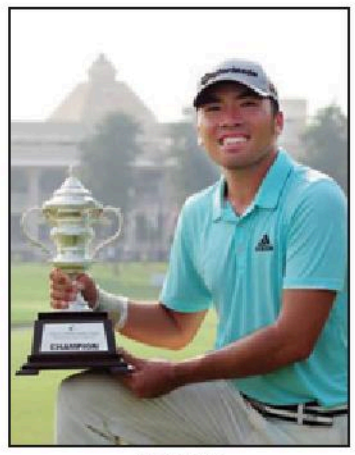
Nuh (Haryana), Sept.16- Rory Hie of Indonesia with a four-day card of 21-under 267 won the title in the US $ 30,00,000 Classic Golf & Country Club International Golf Championship, which concluded at the Classic Golf & County Club here yesterday. The winner took home a cash prize of Rs.37,80,000.

Mysuru lad M.S. Yashas Chandra (JWGC) finished a creditable 27th with a four-day card of 9-under-279 and won a cash prize of Rs.1,81,650 for this performance.

India's Rashid Khan notched a joint runner-up finish at the inaugural Championship that helped him secure his Asian Tour card for the 2020 season.

The 28-year-old Rashid, who was looking for a third Asian Tour title, fired a three-under-69 in the fourth and final round and thus had to settle for tied second place at 19-under-269, two shots behind champion Rory Hie of Indonesia.

Khan, who shared the second spot with Korean Byungjun Kim, climbed from 38th to 22nd place in the Asian Tour money list as a result of his impressive finish.



Rory Hie

Teenaged rookie Aadil Bedi came up with a fabulous 66 in round four that featured birdies on the last five holes. The Indian youngster thus posted his Asian Tour career-best finish, fourth place at 18-under-270.

Rookie Aman Raj (66) and Abhijit Singh Chadha's (71) tied fifth result at 16-under-272 made it four Indians in the top-5. Aman equalled his previous best result on the Asian Tour while Abhijit, like Aadil, claimed his career-best finish on the tour.

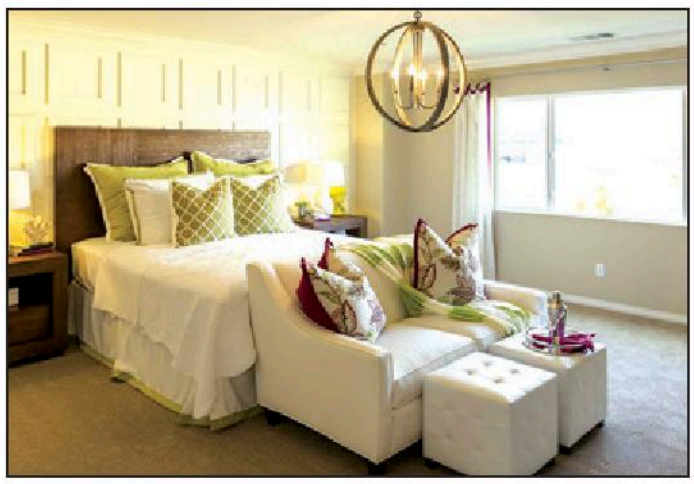
Art of balancing



The Chinese awareness of the earth's magnetic field dates back to the Shang dynasty (1650-1027 BC). However, it was not until 500 BC during the Zhou dynasty that this information was used as an orientation aid. At that time, orientation instruments were created in such shapes as needles, spoons, and disks; these were used to establish magnetic and geographic constants. These eventually lead to the analysis of eight directions, five elements, and four seasons, Chinese astrology charts which were later engraved on the base of the Chinese compass which had over 24 rings or layers. These are used by the Feng Shui Masters to analyse the space.

In Chinese Metaphysics, the interaction of the five elements represents the movement of the energy — Chi in the universe. Each element has its own energy and thus its interaction with its immediate surroundings is checked for. For example, in a home, one would look for orientations and positions of furniture, plants, water, lights, fire and metal objects too.

Feng Shui predominantly deals with technique of balancing and seeking harmony in a space. Hence it could be called as a science of restoring imbalance of energies. Everything has to be balanced and this was based on the Chinese belief that two opposing forces exist within every living thing, which lead to the evolution of the Yin and the Yang. A very interesting point with regard to space analysis is that Yin and Yang is in nature, in building sites, in building and also in individual rooms.

Be it a home or office, it is important to create the right balance to ensure perfect harmony within and flow of energy. One could create the right balance through colours, furnishing or even simply drawing the window blinds or keeping them open which depend upon the sector and the amount of light coming in.

In short, an object is pronounced Yin or Yang in the context of its environment. In other words, if a room when painted a dark colour, kept at cool temp and sparingly used, the room is considered as Yin. If the room is painted light, kept at warm temp, crowded with people and filled with activity or pets, the room is considered Yang.

Balancing the Feng Shui in the rooms requires certain adjustments and to change the Yin room to Yang we could change the colour to a lighter shade, increasing the temp, using the room more often. Similarly to balance a Yang room, we could draw curtains to allow sunlight, lower the room temp or calm it with water bodies like fountains etc.

The key to creating a healthy balance in your home is the infusion of both positive and mellow energy. The right amount of both can instantly boost your productivity and improve your mood and energy levels. It's important to also cleanse your space of negativity, clutter and anything that reflects an uninspired lifestyle.

There are many methods, which a Feng Shui master would consider depending upon the situation and requirement but the fundamental premise is to establish the right "balance." Hence moderation of decor, Feng Shui symbolism and lighting can all give a cumulative positive benefit to the occupants.

VVCE students manufacture eco-friendly refrigerator

Mysuru, Sept.16- A Group of Final Year Electrical and Electronics Engineering students — Danish Junaidi, Syed Hasan, B. Satish and V. Preetham — from Vidyavardhaka College of Engineering (VVCE), Mysuru, have developed an "Eco-friendly Refrigerator Using Peltier Technology" model which was found to be adequate to improve efficiency of low efficient TECs (Thermo-Electric Cooler) and also save power. They were guided by Dr. Shoba Shankar, Head, Department of Electrical and Electronics Engineering, VVCE.

The project implements the unique way of refrigerator using Peltier module. The refrigerator model has an interior cooling volume of 30*30*30 cubic centimetre, it can hold 27 litres. The refrigerator was able to reach an internal temperature of 6 degree Celsius. Its temperature is controlled using Temperature Duty cycle technique. The Peltier module is the main source for production of cold temperature.

The model consists of solar panel which serves as a backup power in case the main supply to the refrigerator fails. The model is also linked with Arduino UNO for monitoring refrigerator's temperature. The inner most part of the model consists of aluminium metal sheet placed on cold side of the Peltier.

The model records temperature in refrigerator using DHT11 temperature sensors. Aluminium blocks are used to remove heat from the heated portion of Peltier, by circulating water through it. By using this water cooling technique much lower temperature can be obtained. The relays are used to control inner temperature of the model.

Presently available refrigerators in the market uses chemicals as refrigerant which is harmful to ozone layer.

The Government of India in association with Rocky Mountain Institute, USA, had called for Global Cooling Challenge which supports eco-friendly techniques in cooling. Since the system uses water as refrigerant, this is an eco-friendly refrigerator. The cost of the refrigerator is Rs.12,000 but when it is manufactured in bulk, the cost gets reduced.

Infosys Mysore DC concludes MakersSpace Hackathon

Mysuru, Sept. 16 - Infosys Mysore Development Centre (DC) recently concluded MakersSpace, a hackathon for engineering students from Colleges in and around Mysuru. The hackathon received good response from 150 students, who were accompanied by 30 mentors from 14 Colleges.

MakersSpace, a 24-hour-long hackathon, was organised with the objective of engaging with engineering students from local Colleges and to inculcate a culture of innovation among students. Aligning to the theme 'Sustainability', the problem statements focused on social good, education, agriculture, economics, energy and environment. The students were allowed to select a problem statement from the above mentioned topics. The event was inaugurated by Dr. N.R. Parasuraman, Director and Senior Professor at SDM Institute for Management Development, Mysuru and Shaji Mathew, Head of Mysore DC and EVP, Global Head of Delivery, for the Financial Services, Healthcare, Insurance & Life Sciences at Infosys. Addressing the students, the chief guests elaborated on the importance of sustainability and how young minds can act as catalysts to bring a positive change.

The members of the winning team were from Maharaja Institute of Technology, Thandavapura. The winning team received a prize worth Rs. 25,000 along with a trophy, certificates and shields. The first runner up team received Rs. 20,000 and the second runner up team received Rs. 15,000 along with certificates, shields and souvenirs.

WORD OF THE DAY

Deleterious

Pronunciation: del-uh-TEER-ee-us.
Meaning: Harmful often in a subtle or unexpected way.
Origin: Pernicious, baneful, noxious, and detrimental are the wicked synonyms of deleterious. All five words refer to something exceedingly harmful. Of the group, deleterious is most often used for something that is unexpectedly harmful. Pernicious implies irreparable harm done by something that degrades or undermines in an evil or insidious way ("the pernicious effects of corruption"), while baneful suggests injury through poisoning or destruction ("baneful consequences of war"). Noxious can apply to anything that is both offensive and injurious to the health of body or mind ("noxious chemical fumes"), and detrimental implies an obvious harmfulness to something specified ("detrimental effects of excessive drinking").
Example: "With an injury, the body automatically responds with an inflammatory process to neutralize the toxic microorganisms, repair the affected tissues and eliminate debris from the wound. That is beneficial, but chronic inflammation is deleterious, causing a continuous supply of free-radicals, overwhelming our antioxidant immunities." — Phyllis Van Buren

THE ODD WORD

Aviator; pilot.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Dance attendance on

Meaning: To wait upon someone in an overly assiduous or sycophantic manner.
Origin: The derivation of this phrase isn't known. It probably has the same root source as kick one's heels, although that is a later phrase. Both phrases refer to someone shuffling and tapping their feet impatiently while waiting to be summoned. The first citation of 'dance attendance' is from John Skelton's Why come ye nat to courte?, circa 1522:
"And Syr ye must daunce attendance, And take patient sufferaunce, For my Lords Grace, Hath now no time or space, To speke with you as yet."
Shakespeare later used it in King Henry VI, Part I, 1592:
YORK:
I'll tell thee, Suffolk, why I am unmeet:
First, for I cannot flatter thee in pride;
Next, if I be appointed for the place,
My Lord of Somerset will keep me here,
Without discharge, money, or furniture,
Till France be won into the Dauphin's hands:
Last time, I danced attendance on his will
Till Paris was besieged, famish'd, and lost.
